Ohio Wants Both.

In Ohio, as in New York, the danger that confronts the republicans is not due, it is asserted, to any particular unfriendliness toward President Taft, but rather to local conditions. Governor Harmon has satisfied the people, and state pride leads not only the democrats but a good many republicans, it is asserted, to want to see him the next democratic nominee for the presidency. The people of the state realize that if they defeat him for governor he will be out of the race for the presidency.

"The fact is," said a republican member of congress from Ohio today, "the people of our state have set out to work both sides of the street. They take it for granted that Mr. Taft will be re-nominated, and they seem determined to put Mr. Harmon in position to receive the democratic nomination."—Washington Letter to the Boston Transcript.

The Swine or the Flower?

Ah me! I saw a huge and dirty swine, wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred, whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye; Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of lard!" I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first One gleaming mass of roses pure and white, With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed; And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight, The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene, Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLINI!"

Sophie Kritchman, Examination Over

HAD BEEN ON THE WITNESS STAND THIRTEEN HOURS.

ARRIVAL OF HER FIANCE

From Chicago Seemed to Give Her New Strength—She Was Afraid of Joe Mitchell and His Friends.

New Haven, Conn., March 14.—After having been on the stand for thirteen hours, the examination of Sophie Kritchman, who is on trial with Joe Mitchell for the killing of Bronislaw Kulvinskis, was finished at ten minutes past four this afternoon. During that time she told her story of the happenings of Friday night and Saturday morning, when the dead man was shot and his throat cut, and was subjected to a severe cross examination by State Attorney Kellogg and Mr. Lynch, of counsel for Mitchell. The strain to which she has been subjected caused her to break down two or three times, and then she recovered herself speedily and was ready to continue.

Witness Gained Strength at Close.
As the examination drew to a close she seemed to gain strength and courage and at its close showed but little signs of the struggle she had gone through. On her appearance in court this morning she wore a diamond ring which she said had been given her Sunday and with which she was very much pleased. The arriving from Chicago Sunday of her fiance, Dr. A. K. Kulvinskis, seemed to do a great deal toward cheering her up. He was not in court room during the examination, but came in shortly before adjournment, taking a seat behind until the close of the session. He will remain here until the close of the trial, it is understood.

Saw Her Fiance at the Jail.
On the redirect examination by Mr. Kennedy late today Sophie said that she saw her fiance at the jail yesterday for the first time. She became acquainted with the doctor when he wrote her a year ago last January after having seen her picture in a Lithuanian paper, together with an advertisement of a concert she had given for little children and the work she was doing for them in a musical line. The correspondence, she said, was started in that way and out of it grew their engagement.

Court Room Again Thronged.
As in the previous days that Sophie has been on the stand, the women thronged to the court room, anxious to see the prisoner and hear her story. During the morning session she suffered a slight hemorrhage from the nose, but she soon recovered, and the slight loss of blood seemed to afford her relief.

Cross Examination by Mr. Kellogg.
The morning session and the first ten minutes of the afternoon session were taken up by Mr. Kellogg in his cross examination, consisting mostly in reading from the record of the coroner's inquest held at Waterbury, and the questions and answers mostly laid particular stress on the reasons why, when she knew that the man who said he loved her and had asked her to marry him was lying, why she didn't tell the police of the shooting or secure medical attendance for him, or why she didn't even give him a glass of water? In answer to all those questions she made the reply that she was afraid; that Joe Mitchell had said he would shoot her if she told anyone of the shooting, and that she was also afraid of Mitchell's friends. When asked if she had done anything, she said she had gone to St. Mary's church and had prayed for Kulvinskis' soul and that someone might find him. Mr. Kellogg brought his examination to a close by several questions, mostly as to the garters she wore on the Friday night she and the Dalton girl walked to the spot where Kulvinskis lay.

Excused from Witness Stand.
Mr. Lynch, who took up the cross examination for Mitchell, dwelt mainly on the time she was in Waterbury when she said she met Mitchell and made her buy a revolver and of her seeing Mitchell on Spring street as she and Kulvinskis were going to the spot where the latter was later shot, as she says, by Mitchell. The examination brought out nothing new, Sophie answering closely in line with the testimony given by her on the direct examination. When asked why some of the statements made at the coroner's inquest differed from those of her story as told on the stand, she said that at that time she was frightened because she was locked up in the police station at Waterbury and that police-men were going in and out of her cell all night and that she didn't know what was the matter. No arrangements, she said, were made with Joe Mitchell whereby she was to turn Kulvinskis into the bushes in Roberts' lot and that she had not seen the bloody handkerchief which was found near Kulvinskis' body until shown to her, and she had not placed it near Kulvinskis' face as he lay wounded on the ground. She was excused from the stand at ten minutes past four.

Medical Examiner the Last Witness.
The day's session was brought to a close with Dr. Johnson, medical examiner of Naugatuck, who had qualified as an expert on the stand. A long hypothetical question was read describing the wounds received by Kulvinskis and the doctor was asked that if in his opinion a man, lying wounded as he was, was in such a mental condition as to enable him to make understandingly a dying statement. The answer to the question will be given at the opening of tomorrow's session.

STANDARD OIL CASE

BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Final Fight for and Against Dissolution Began Yesterday.

Washington, March 14.—The final fight for and against the dissolution of the Standard Oil company began today before the supreme court of the United States, when John G. Murney of New York spoke for three hours in its defense. He will conclude tomorrow. The remainder of the day will be devoted to the second step in the great contest, the reply of Frank B. Kellogg for the government. The hearing of the suit against the Standard Oil attracted to the courtroom lawyers and spectators from all sections of the country. Members of both houses of congress forsook their respective chambers to hear what was to be said in the review of the decree of the circuit court of the United States for the eastern district of Missouri, dissolving the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, as a conspiracy in restraint of trade and as a monopoly in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

OLD-FASHIONED COURTESY SEEMS TO BE OUT OF DATE.

Address by Yonkers Pastor to Federation of Church Clubs.

New York, March 14.—"The old-fashioned courtesy seems to be going out of favor," said the Rev. Earl Reiland, rector of St. Andrew's church, of Yonkers, N. Y., Sunday, in addressing the Federation of Church Clubs of this city. "The respect for gray hairs, the gentle courtesy toward women, and the tenderness toward children, once so prevalent, now seem to be forgotten," he continued. "The call today is a moral one. You know what goes on in the offices in this city, and when you know that, and what a damnable life a woman has to lead who wants to be a manicurist in a barber shop, or even work in a department store, you know it is a moral call."

"I ask you where in the name of heaven are you? You must champion the cause of these poor women, and help and protect them."

CONGRESS.

Prohibition in Hawaii—Recording Race of Persons in Next Census.

Washington, March 14.—The nationality and mother tongue of all persons enumerated for the next census was provided for today in a bill passed by the senate. After considerable objection to recording the race of persons enumerated for the census, that provision was left out of the present law, but upon demand of a large number of citizens of foreign birth its reinstatement was decided upon.

The senate also passed a bill providing for an election by the people of Hawaii on the subject of prohibition for the islands. The consideration of local bills affecting the District of Columbia consumed the entire time of the house today.

The senate and house both will be in session tomorrow.

James J. Hogan Somewhat Improved.

Torrington, Conn., March 14.—It was announced tonight by physicians attending James J. Hogan, the former Yale football captain, ill with kidney trouble, that his condition was somewhat improved, and that there was a chance for his recovery. Specialists from New York will be brought to attend him tomorrow.

SOCIALIST JOHN SPARGO AROUSED PASTOR CONRAD.

Spargo Declared that the Church Had Always Betrayed the Workingman.

Boston, March 14.—"Brimstone Corner," as Park Street church has been known locally for many years, burst into flame again today at a fiery debate between John Spargo, the socialist lecturer, and Rev. A. Z. Conrad, the pastor of the church. The spark which aroused discord was Mr. Spargo's declaration that the church has always betrayed the workingman, that it does not represent the great truths for which Christ stood; but that it had prostituted itself for the sake of worldly advantages.

Dr. Conrad leaped to the pulpit and passionately announced that he would not allow such insinuations to be made without answer. "The warmest friend of the workingman today is the church of God," said Dr. Conrad, "and I denounce the statements made by Mr. Spargo in behalf of this church and all other churches. The church is not to be dictated to or cowed by any society or body of men. She is right on all the questions which we have heard discussed."

Rev. J. H. Perry of the Warren Avenue Baptist church supported Mr. Spargo's side of the debate. When the audience filed out, there was a division, half stopping to shake hands with Dr. Conrad, while the other half congratulated Mr. Spargo.

Gift of $100,000 for Endowment of Chair of Medicine.

New York, March 14.—A gift of $100,000 by Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins, for the endowment of a chair of medicine in New York university medical school and Bellevue hospital medical college, which were consolidated in 1897, was announced today. The gift is made in recognition of the interest in the university of the donor's father, Marcellus Hartley. He was a member of the university corporation from 1895 until his death, and a member of the committee on the medical college. The new chair will be named for him.

Rear Admiral Nazro Must Retire from Naval Service.

Washington, March 14.—Rear Admiral A. P. Nazro is the first naval officer of high degree to fall a victim to the requirement that all naval officers must pass a severe physical test for walking fifty miles in three days or making a corresponding exhibition of endurance on a bicycle. Admiral Nazro failed to meet these requirements, and an order was published today announcing his retirement from the naval service in consequence.
